(b) what are the particulars of the employees who have failed to return to the country on the expiry of their extended tenure and leave;

(c) whether any assessment of the likely damage to India's security by leakage of secrets and information by these employees has been made and action taken in the matter;

(d) what steps have been taken by Government for repatriation of these employees; and

(e) what preventive measures have been or are being taken to balk down such situations arising in future?

THE MINISTER OF DEFENCE (SHRI P. V. NARASIMHA RAO): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) to (e) 3 out of 14 Stenographers try of Defence Cadres, who were posted try of Defence Cadres, who were posted to the Offices of Military Advisers/Attaches in Indian Missions abroad and whose extended tenure expired on 30-6-1985, have not yet returned to rejoin duty in India. One of these three Stenographers was posted to our Embassy in Washington and the remaining two to our High Commission in London.

Information has been received that the Stenographer in Washington has booked his passage to India on 30-8-85. The other two in London have also been directed to report back for duty in India immediately. In case they fail to report for duty within a reasonable time, the officials will be liable to disciplinary proceedings provided for under the rules.

The Government have not come across any breach of security by these officials. The position and return of our employees attached to our Military Advisers/Attaches in our Missions abroad is routine matter and there is no reason to believe that there is anything deliberate and unusual about it.
